

NEC Offers Zero Percent Financing on Select Enterprise Communications Systems

NEC Financial Services announces limited time 60-month zero percent lease options on UNIVERGE® SV8000 Series and UX5000 systems

Saddle Brook, NJ – March 3, 2010 – NEC Financial Services, LLC, a firm dedicated to providing tailored financing and leasing services to customers throughout the United States, announces the availability of a 60-month zero percent true lease promotion subject to offer terms and conditions* for NEC UNIVERGE® SV8000 Series and UX5000 communication systems installed by authorized NEC Corporation of America Communications Technology Group dealers. The limited time offer enables qualifying commercial customers to affordably upgrade their communication infrastructure to a standard that offers advanced high performance applications and scalability for growth. The lease provides the customer with an option to acquire the system at the end of the lease term for its then Fair Market Value.

“In preparation for improving business conditions, companies are turning from cost containment to strategic growth, and we believe that there is nothing more strategic than seamless communications,” said Herschel Salan, vice president and general manager of NEC Financial Services, LLC. “That is why we are pleased to be able to provide this special leasing arrangement. It offers companies advanced tools to allow them to effectively compete in the critical months ahead.”

NEC’s UNIVERGE SV8000 Series and UX5000 communications systems can help businesses significantly improve customer responsiveness, enhance efficiency and reduce recurring operating costs by delivering a next-generation, standards-based platform for unified communications, IP, video, wired and wireless voice.
